Harry Kohn is a traditional jazz enthusiast but I failed to mention that he was an actor as well, with a role some time ago in a performance of “Give My Regards to Broadway”, with music by George M. Cohen.

Over the years, Firestone Library and the Princeton Art Museum have been beneficiaries of the collections of our former class president Len Milberg. His most recent display this past year at the Art Museum – “By Dawn's Early Light” – was seen by a number of classmates. Dick Crampton wrote enthusiastically about his planned visit. From November to February the exhibit will be displayed at the New York Historical Society in NYC. It depicts the Jewish contribution to culture in the Americas from Columbus, the Caribbean, and South and Central America to our Civil War, using the media of prints, maps, manuscripts, books, paintings et al. A 325-page illustrated catalog is available at Firestone. Congratulations and thanks, Len.

While impressed by Michael Phelps 23 gold medals in the Olympics, Barbara Hauptfuhrer was justifiably proud of her and Bob's Princeton grandson Andrew Helber '16 who joined six other swim teammates to prepare for the Olympic trials. I haven't learned whether or not any of them were on our Olympic team, but Andrew was a star member of our Ivy League Champion team.

V. P, Dave Brown will organize a reception following the Harvard game at Princeton on October 22. Watch the class website and this column for details. I will post President Ned Jannotta's and Treasurer Bob Kenagy's recent letters to the class on the site. Treasurer Bob has done a superb job keeping our Class at the top of the list for loyalty through participation in Class support.

Phil Swirbul, one of our former Class Agents, died on June 12.
