2019 – 2, Dec 13, 2018, for Feb 6, 2019

Flashback: In June, 1958, Charles R. Erdman was the only member of his class to attend the 72nd Reunion of the Class of 1886, but he was supported by his son Charles 1919, his grandson Charles '46 and no doubt by his grandson David '53 who then would have been attending our Fifth, and probably also by his brothers Peter '50 and Michael '57. Princeton celebrates a large herd of Erdmans. David settled in Westwood, MA a few years ago, after years in Princeton and Rockland, ME. His daughter Jane '89, a lawyer in Boston, is close to her Dad and Ellie.

I need updates from Jim Swiggett, who wrote ages ago that he and Carol were planning trips to the Panama Canal, to be followed by a 60th anniversary trip from Hong Kong to Dubai; and from Jim Swiggett of Tubac, AZ who eons ago wrote that he and Carol were looking forward to a trip through the Panama Canal and a cruise from Hong Kong to Dubai in celebration of their 60th anniversary". Also, as of a year ago: Joe Briggs was still on the tennis court and awaiting their first great granddaughter. And Joe Briggs, of Naples, NY, was still playing tennis at 87.

Don and Peachy Kohler reported a dinner gathering in Delray Beach last April to celebrate a visit from Pete Reinheimer and his lady friend Jeannie. Joining them were Barbara and Jim Stenson, Jim's brother '47 and wife. Hosts were Ernie Pepples, Yale '58 and his wife. Stenson and Kohler had not seen Reinheimer for 65 years!

From Newport Beach, CA, Martin Litke wrote of his 60th anniversary with Mildred. Martin is still active at the VCI College of Medicine and on the tennis court

Jim "Oats" Otis was immensely pleased by this year's football success. However, I have observed that ancient football history for today's world apparently began in the mid '60s. I have seen no mention of the teams of '50, '51 and '52, nor a Heisman Trophy winner.

We have learned of the death of William Gardner on March 7, 2018.
